MONA SHORES
HIGH SCHOOL

Grades 10-12

Education is more than an assembly line. Education is people coming together to exchange ideas. Young people come with new ideas — teachers with the old accepted ones. Kids give of themselves and expand into individuals — not carbon copies of one standard pattern.

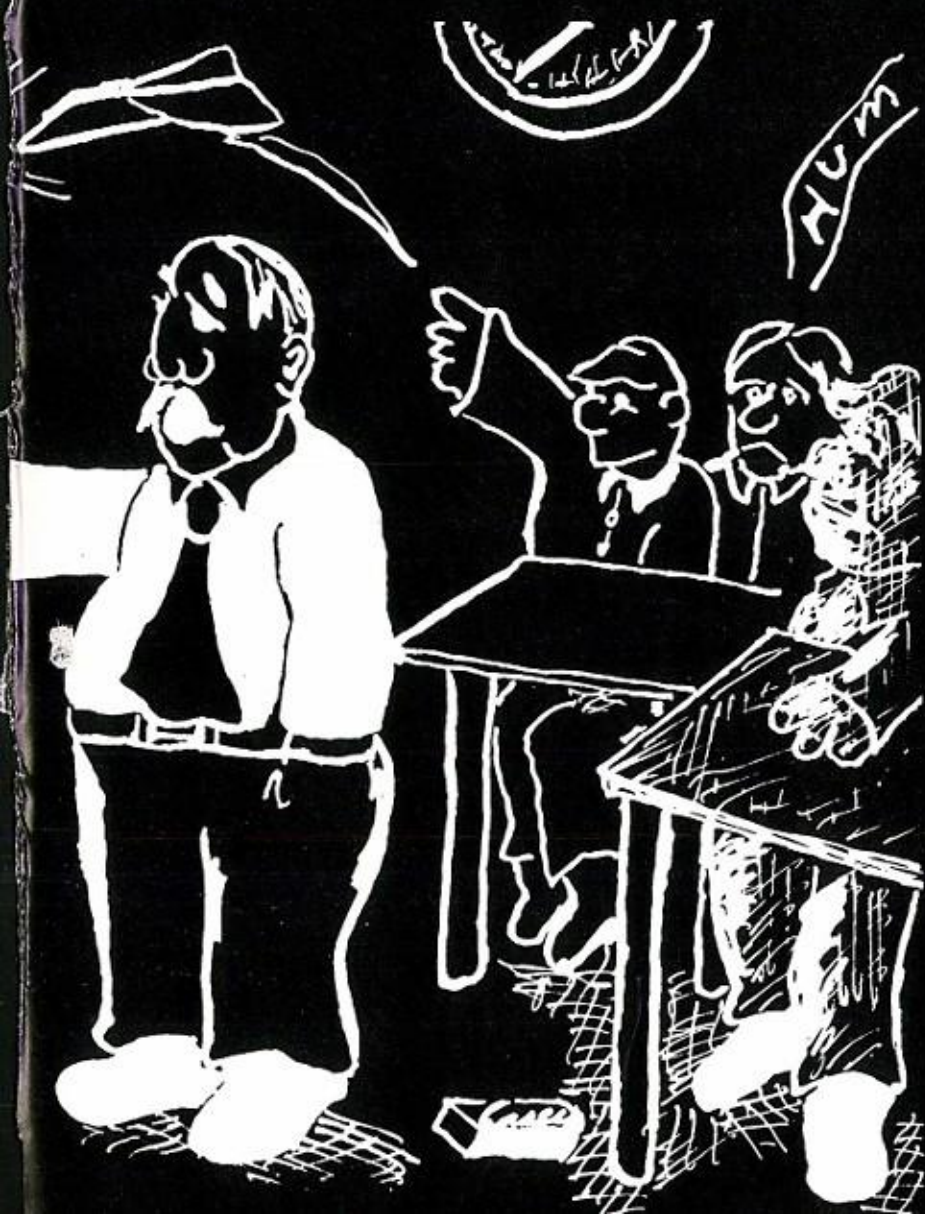

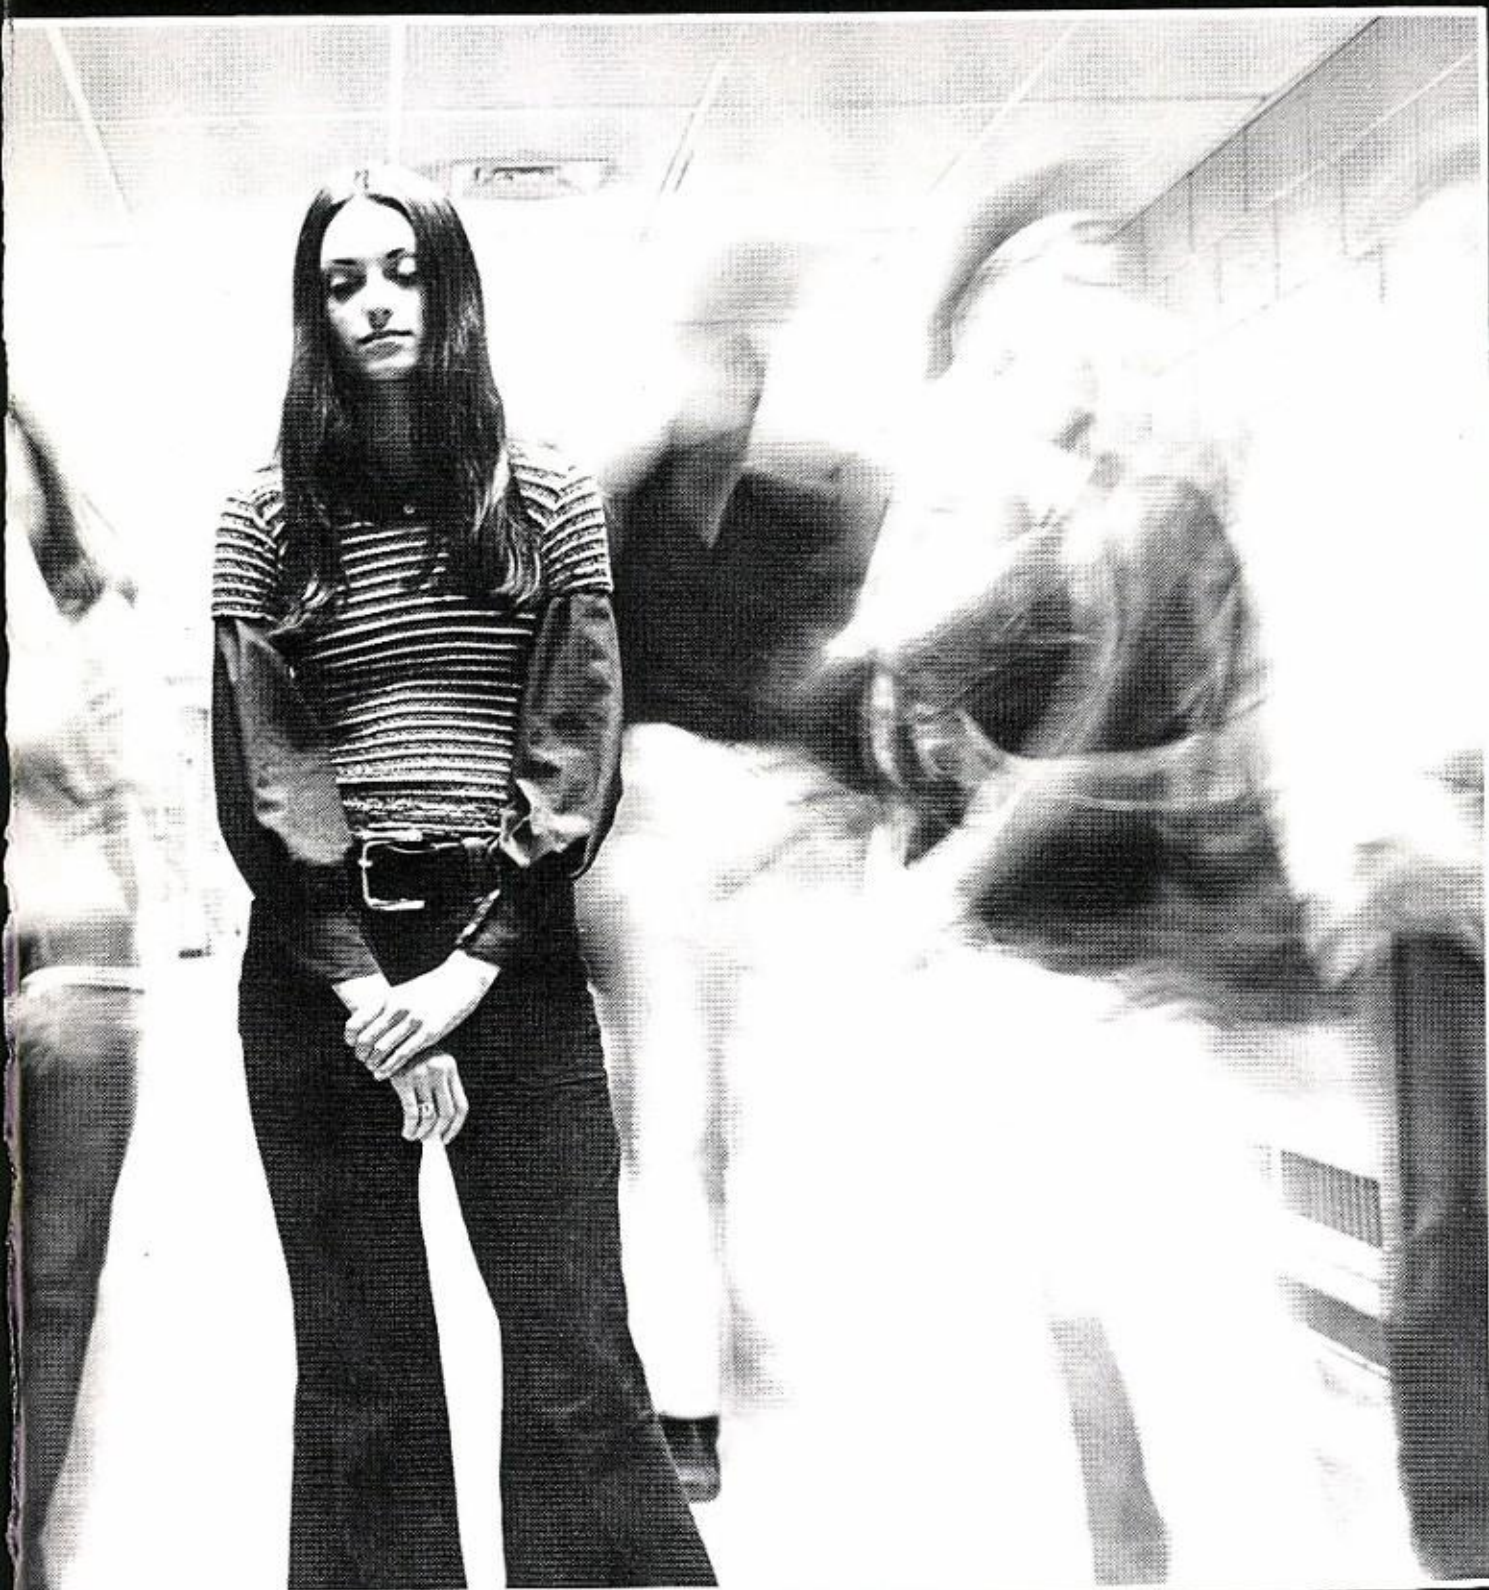

COMMENTARY:

Do students care; Do teachers care; Does anybody really care?

- Tina: "School spirit is the whole school participating in cheering on one thing — the game."
Becky: "It's not just for games — it's for Sailorlympics, One Acts, everything."
Tina: "If everyone was in a good mood — REALLY interested in the school; if we could have that, we'd really have spirit."
Liz: "Spirit hasn't disappeared completely. You still see glimmers of it now and then — people jumping up and down like idiots at a game."
Judy: "The problem is, there's nothing to get spirited over — or else you never hear about it 'till afterwards."
Rochelle: "That's not true; we're spirited over things we're good in — like the band."
Liz: Everyone has school spirit — you just have to get them to admit it."

- Jonis: "A couple of the teachers I have give assignments — but they don't give of themselves."
Becky: "With the amount of homework my teachers hand out, they have to be trying."
June: "Handing out assignments isn't teaching — it's supervising."
Kim: "What bothers me is the teachers who go right by the book. If your answer's not in the book it's wrong."
Marie: "There are so many kinds of teachers. Some are here for prestige, some for money, some to antagonize, and some to teach."
Kim: "There should be another name for some 'teachers' who don't teach."
Pam: "There's so many different kinds of teachers. Two I have are complete opposites. One expects me to know EVERYTHING. The other teacher thinks we're dunces."
Debbie: "How can you expect teachers to pay attention to us when they're having coffee klatches out in the hall."
Wanda: "I'm awed by my math teacher. He knows so much, but he can't explain it."
Laurel: "My best teacher is my history teacher. She makes history come alive."
Liz: "I guess you have to put up with them. If you're lucky you'll learn something."

Steve: "Alone? I'm not alone I have friends, but it doesn't bother me to sit by myself."

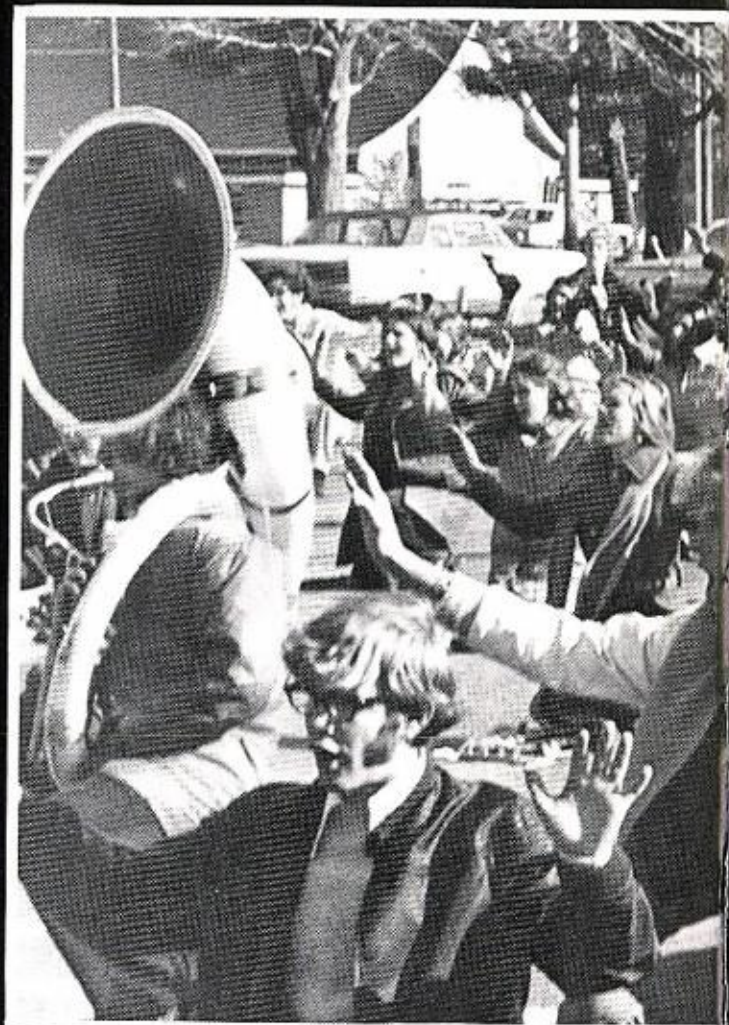

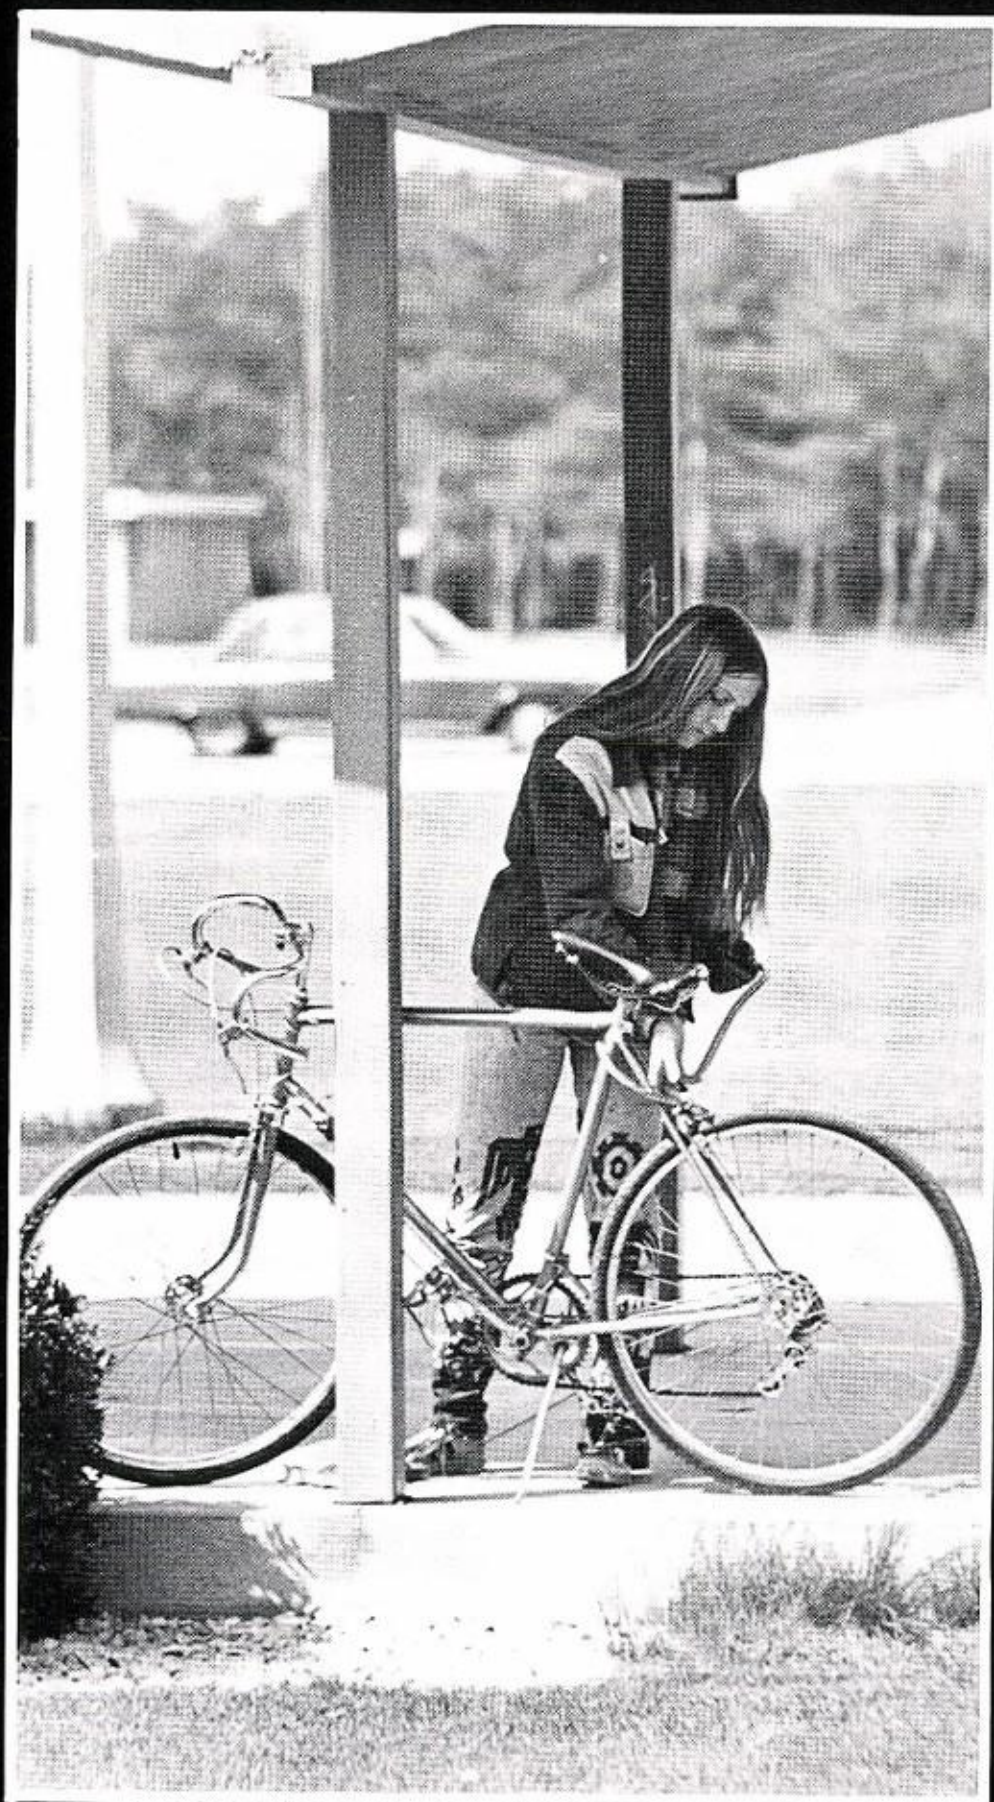

Janette: "Sometimes when I'm depressed and things aren't going right, I feel alone — like no one cares."

Julie: "If I am by myself, I can always find someone to talk to, even if I don't know them."

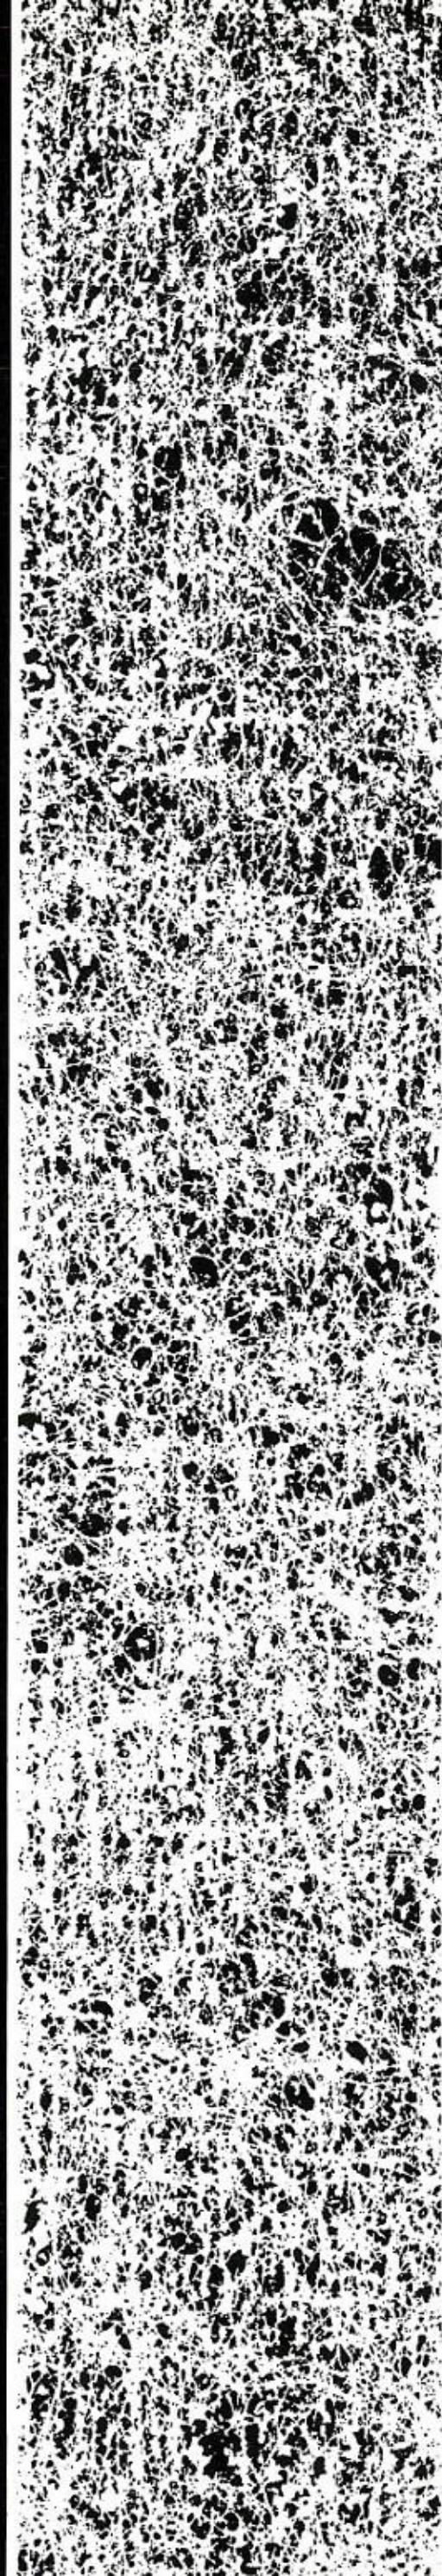

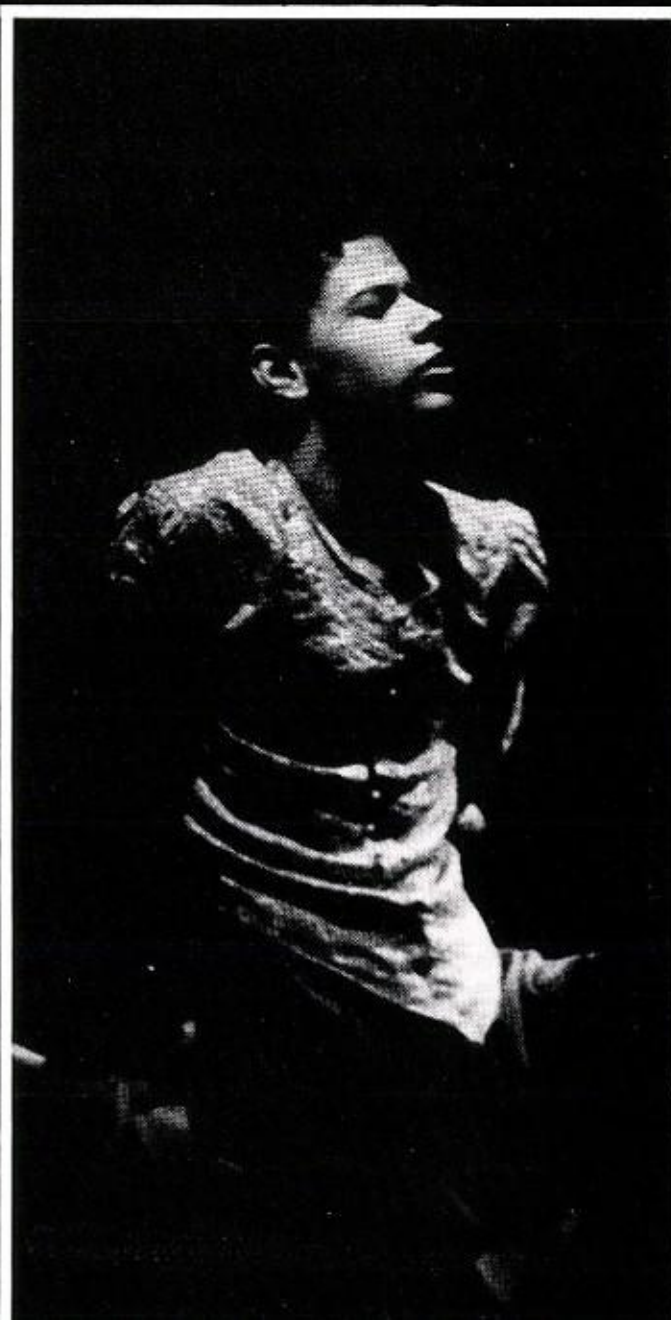

Scott: "There are lots of people around to talk to."

Wendy: "No matter what kind of group you're in — if you belong you're never alone."

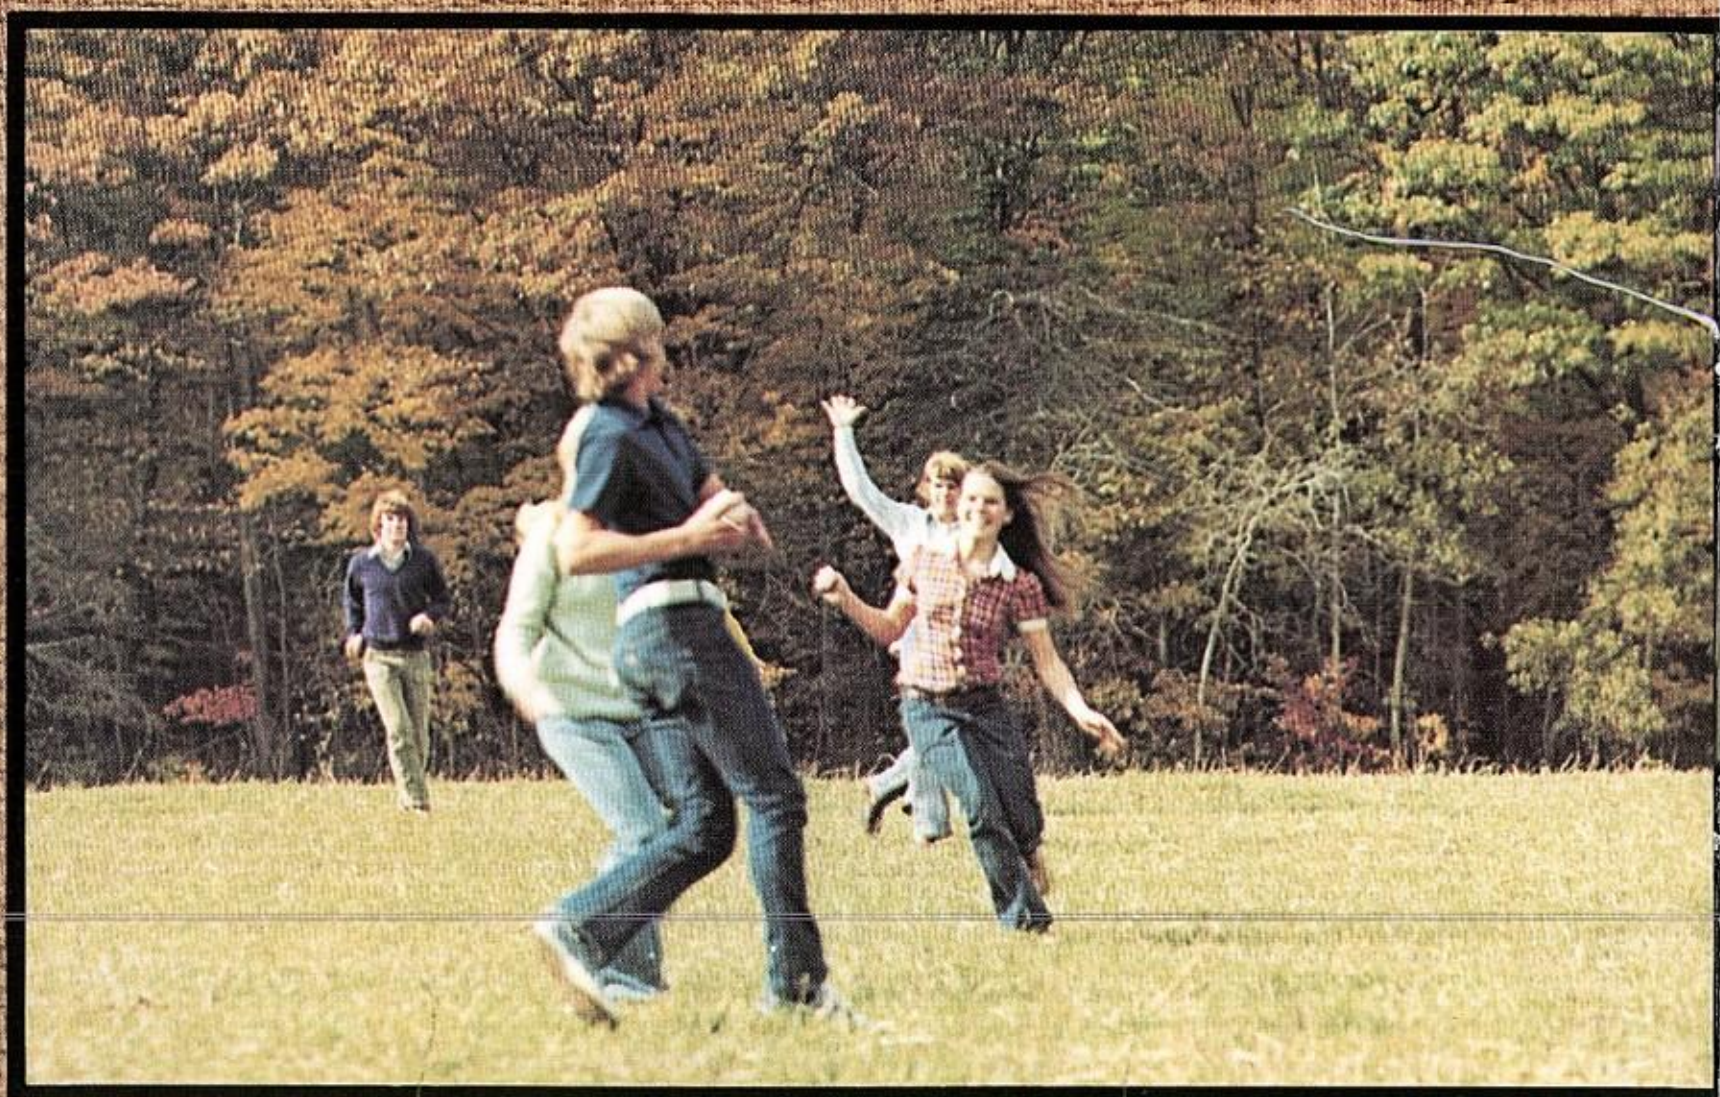

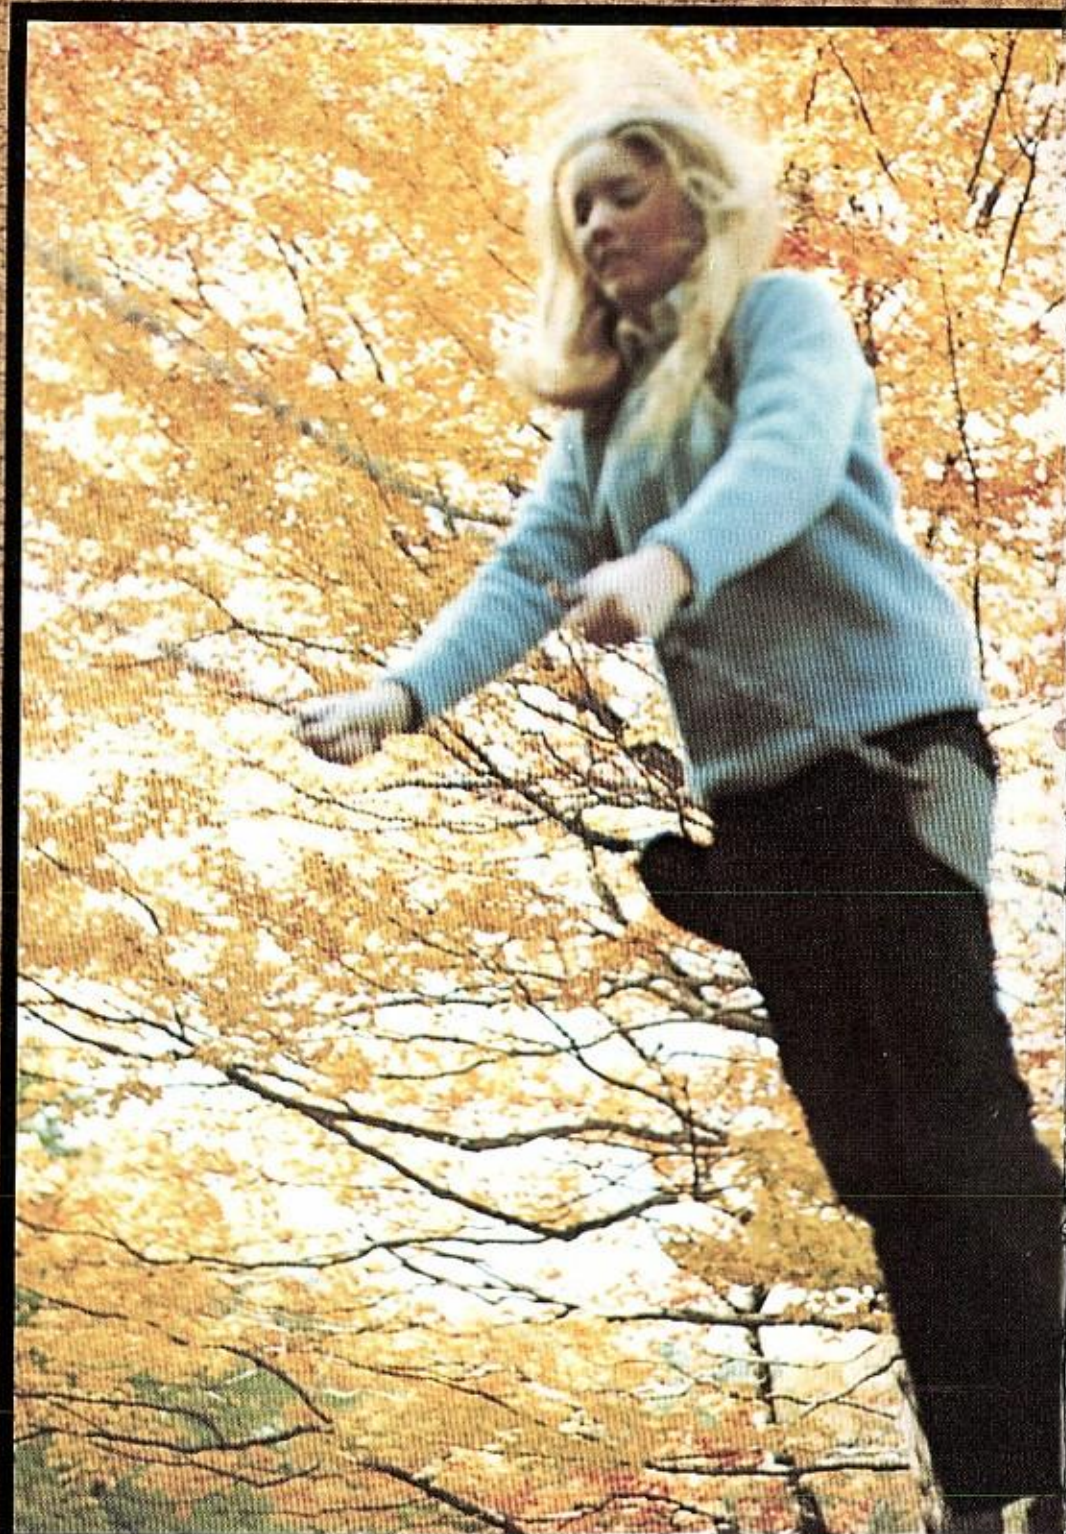

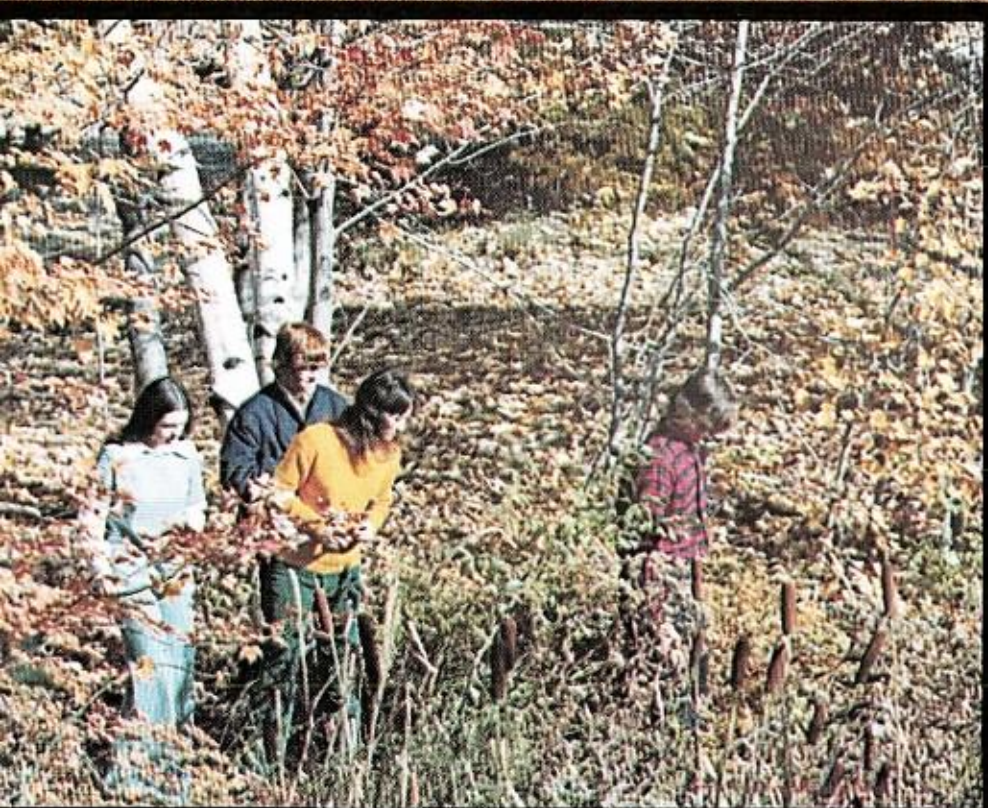

Kim: "You don't have to be in a group. I don't believe in liking someone because of who they hang around with. You have to like people for themselves."

Once upon a fantasy in the land of Shire in the Middle World, lived Bilbo, Frodo, and a unique array of elves, dwarfs, men and just regular hobbits. The life of the hobbits was one of quietness and serenity (except of course, for the slightly eccentric Bilbo). How their lives were turned umop-spi2dn by the wicked creature Gollum and the story of the Quest made for a delightful and fascinating viewing experience, presented by the Mona Shores Thespians.

The Thespians (quite unique creatures themselves) set out on an intriguing adventure as they sought to produce The Hobbit. Numerous dangers and mishaps beset them along the way, an elf was suddenly de-bearded mid-scene and several dwarfs found themselves at the peril of an unsturdy berich. But to the relief of both audience and cast, the Thespians emerged unscathed amidst the clamor of applause.

once upon a time in lovely fantasyland, lived fifteen hundred jolly children.
they all dwelt happily together and often held festive celebrations.
once every year they spent a whole week preparing for the most exciting event of their year. they called this event homecoming. during this week the children busied themselves in many ways.
they made colorful floats, drew tigers, sold balloons and even built a large bonfire. but most important, they built up spirit, which helped them all live happily ever after.

By the end of the day
we were plastering papier mache' more on each other than on the float. Val Applegarth

Every class had spies checking on the other floats. It was the only time we were divided into classes. Kim Swinehart

Christmas in Camelot

What a night!
I was ready at 7:30 sharp. In ecstasy. Hair curled.
Everything just perfect. He was 45 minutes late but, wow! was he handsome.
Mom took so many pictures I saw blue dots all night.
Amid the flash of the bulbs my beautiful yellow roses turned brown.
I don't think I'm too crazy about punch parties, but I sure liked the punch. Everything was in a warm and friendly atmosphere. Even the outside seemed to welcome us as we journeyed on our way.
When we arrived the snow was beautiful. It was so slippery tho, I never thought I'd make it to the door.
I finally did and it was as though a magic spell had been cast upon the entire evening.
We danced all night. The band?? Good for polkas and the hokey pokey. When our feet needed a rest those thrones came in handy. We really relaxed in style.
Perfect! Christmas in Camelot.

COMMENTARY:

DRUGS

"If we don't consider drugs a problem until they come close to us, it'll be too late."

"I've never taken drugs, if I had I could probably understand more what's going on."

"I know a lot of kids who tried drugs once — but that's all."

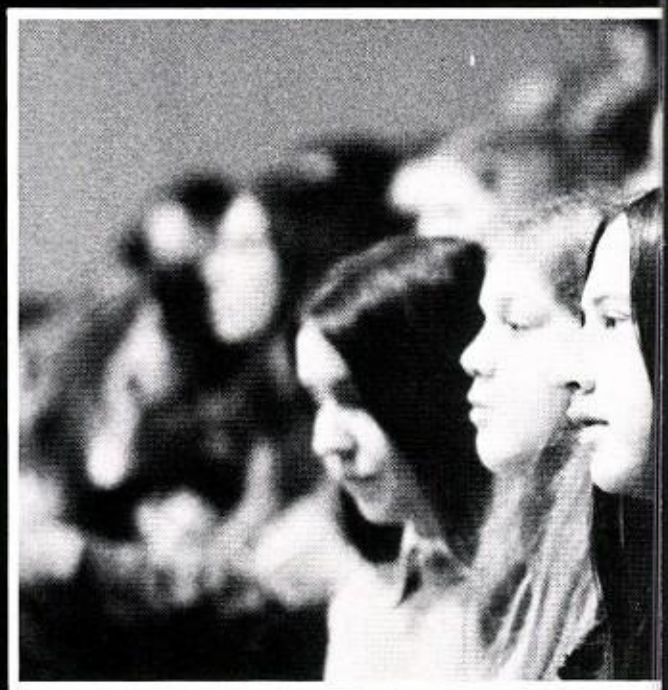

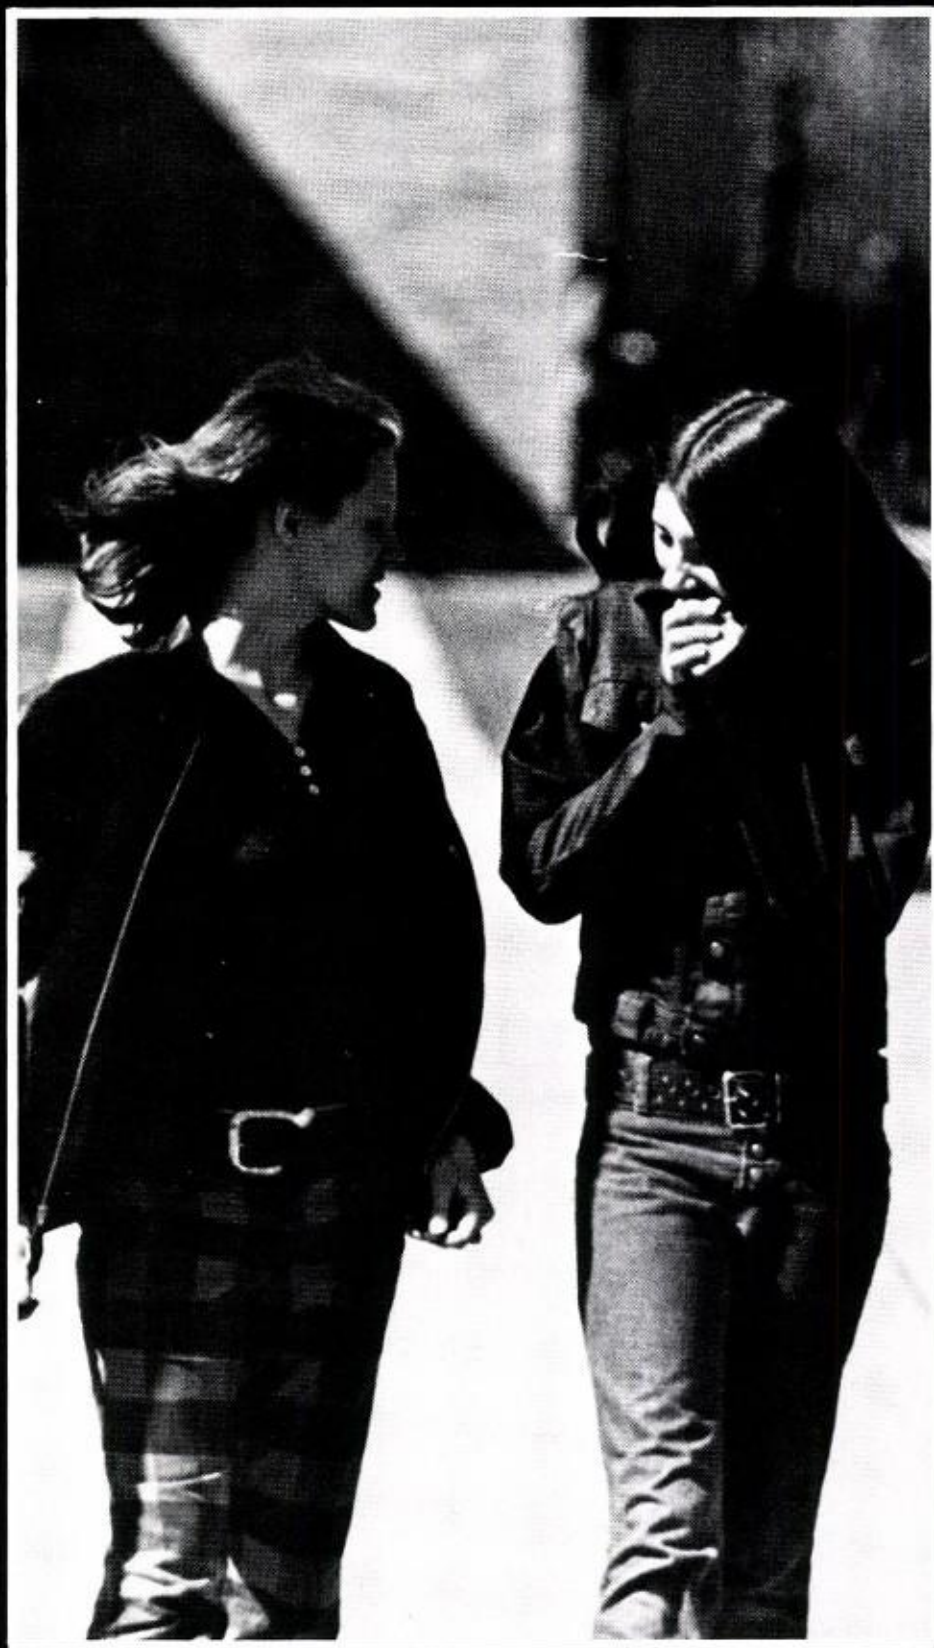

"Drugs have messed up some of my friends, that's why I'm against them."

"Opinions on drugs can't be right or wrong because it's purely a matter of your own personal feelings."

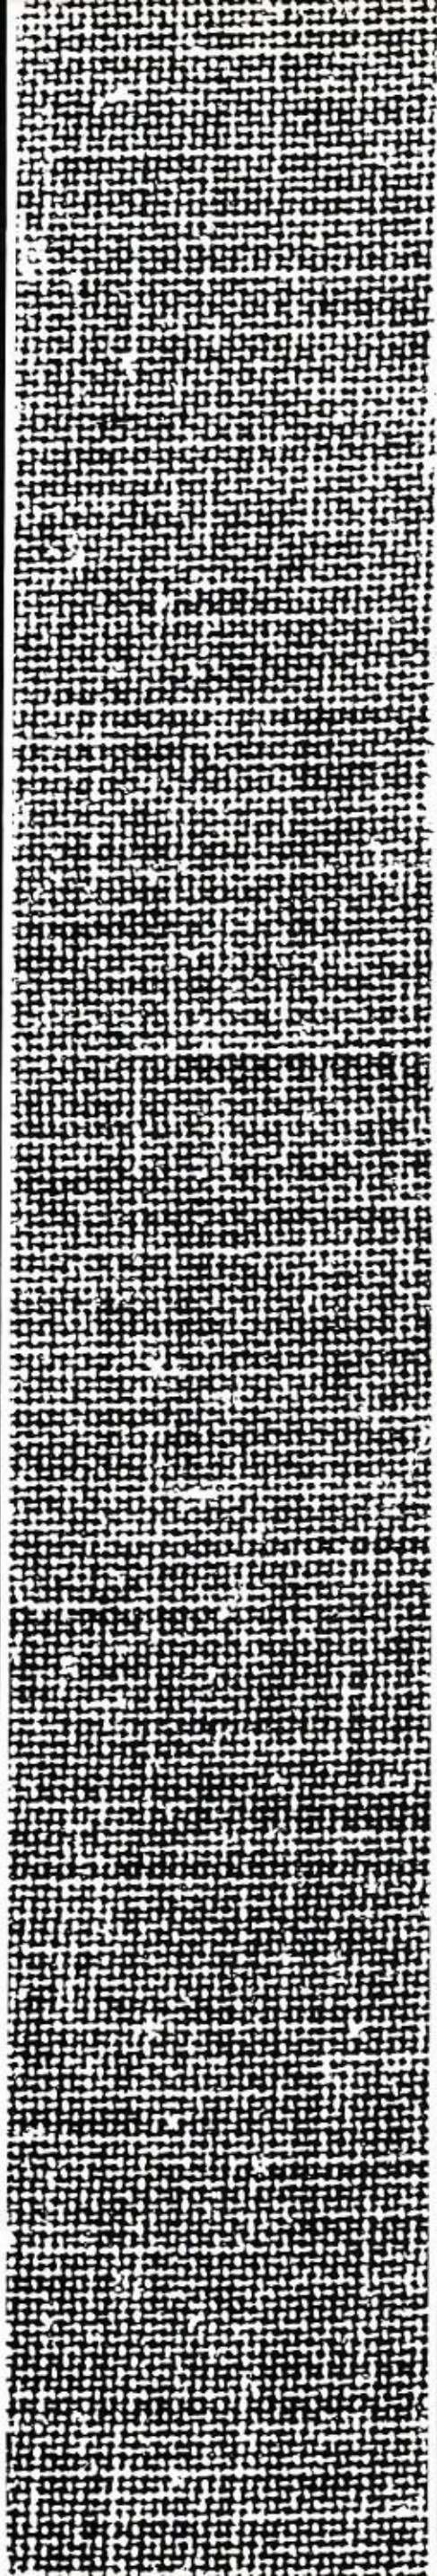

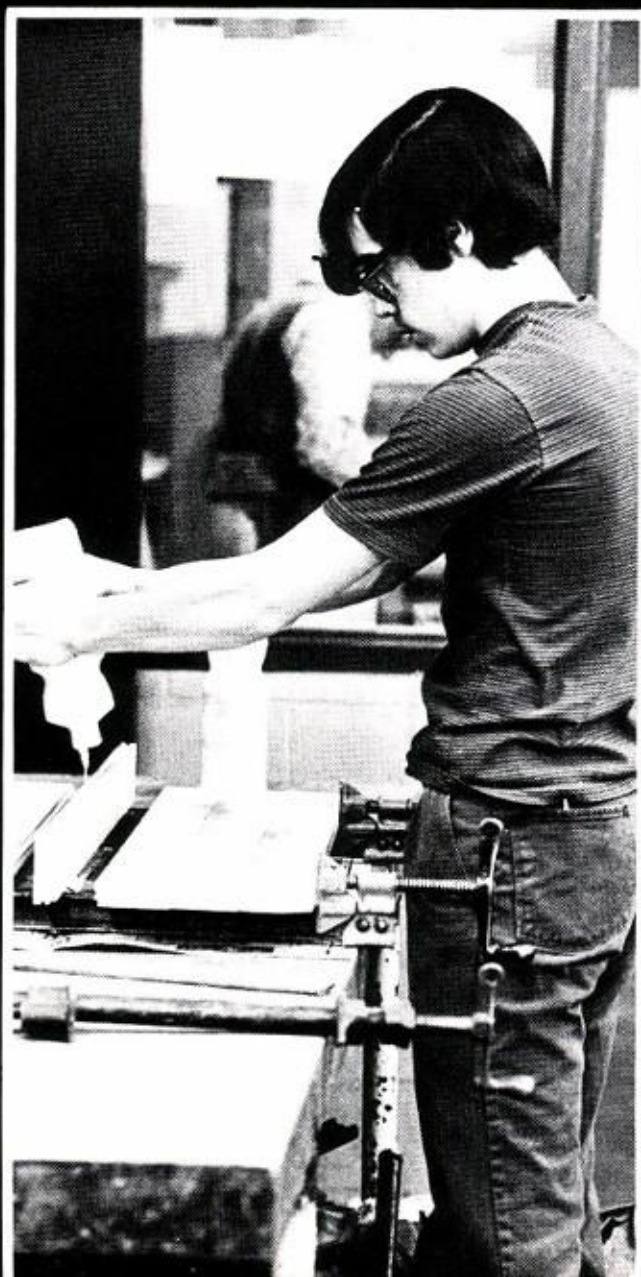

"Drugs were in with me, but when I grew up and came to my senses, I suddenly realized that they ruined all of my years at Shores."

It is a fact that Mona Shores does have a drug problem but no one can be sure just how bad it is because no one wants to talk about it. Teenagers do have problems and some turn to drugs for an answer.

The other and far better solution is that the individual will be mature enough to cope with his own problems and not have to turn to drugs as a "crutch" in helping him overcome his problems.

Dear Sir:

I am a graduate of Mona Shores High School and I would like to apply for the job you recently advertised. I can type, take shorthand, and have an adequate filing system. In my shorthand course we were exposed to the use of modern office machines.

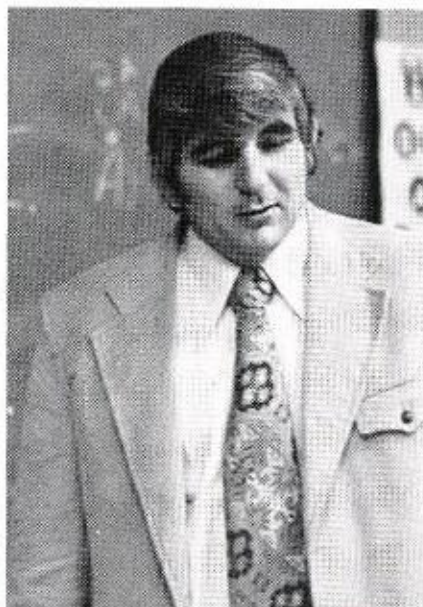

I have also completed courses in sales and advertising, business management and retailing, and business law. Last summer I had a job which enabled me to use these qualifications. I encountered many business problems and was able to solve them thanks to my high school business courses.

Sincerely,

Miss Mary Smith

"I don't know what's happened to school spirit. No one seems to be interested in doing things for the school anymore." This statement and many similar to it have been heard more and more frequently around school. Some people have accepted this as the truth without looking behind the words at the people who speak them. In most cases, the people are speaking of themselves and their own apathy toward the school. There have always been people like that and there always will be. However, we shouldn't let these pessimists color the real picture.

"And now, introducing the starting line-up for Mona Shores." A roar arises from the packed bleachers and drowns out the announcer. Spirit! Throughout the football and basketball seasons, students turn out to cheer their teams.

Let's

on to victory. Always enthusiastic and boisterous, they show their support for the team. It doesn't matter if we win or lose, they're OUR TEAM and we show it — with our cheers and shouts — by our presence.

"Alright! First Juniors against Seniors. Then the winners against the Sophomores." Hundreds of kids pour down from their seats and grab hold of the rope in the tug-of-war. Spirit! Spring Week of Madness unites the school in a mad scramble of spirit. Hall decorations, the swing-a-thon, and the water events are all part of the vivacity that emerges in the spring with the sunshine. Spirit bubbles over in the fresh air. Impulsiveness is the key to spirit during Spring Week. How else could there be someone swinging at 4:30 in the morning? How else could there be canoes upside-down in a freezing lake? Spirit brings Spring Week of Madness to life.

Liveliness isn't the only sign of spirit. The people who make up our student council and attend class meetings are showing school spirit — only in a quieter, more beneficial way to the school. The meetings, discussions, and decisions are a part of the picture of spirit. These organizations deal with the dilemmas that arise during school. The thought and planning which goes into any questions that come up are an understanding type of spirit shown for the school.

The dictionary defines spirit as "enthusiastic loyalty." To the people who say this loyalty doesn't exist and complain of a lack of interest in the school, we need only say, "Open your eyes and look around" — for spirit is alive and affecting more people everyday.

a moment alone
to let thoughts
wander, silently, unplanned toward people, talk.
a moment together
no longer alone.

Faraway thoughts of yesterday's dream — of youthful pranks and carefree days — anxious for the new — yet fearing it, too.

the banquet —
saying "thank-you"
to the advisors and remembering embarrassing moments of the last three years.

"Mr. Hanichen made a speech about — I don't really remember!" Barb Gerst

"Everybody was together at the banquet. I kept thinking it was the last time for anything like that."
Linda Kitzing

Supreme Court Justice Rehnquist: Baccalaureate Speaker

"Ambition for worldly goods and worldly achievements is necessary. All I'm saying is that it must be held in balance with other achievements."
... words of encouragement and guidance to bring ambitions into perspective. U.S. Supreme Court Justice William H. Rehnquist also told graduates at Baccalaureate that for every one in their generation who achieves fame, countless number of others will fail to achieve it. "Some of those who have achieved fame, have been successful at the expense of their home, health, and family."

"I was in constant fear fo being thrown into the lake." Kris Kime

"I think it's about the best time our-class has ever had together."
Jim Wangerin

"Mr. Caruso took his dunkings very well." Gary Fuhrman

"I had a riot!" Pam Weiss

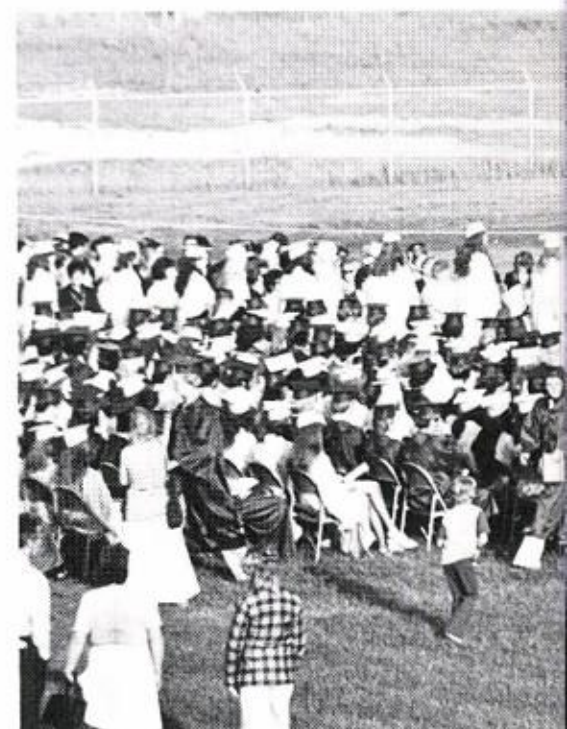

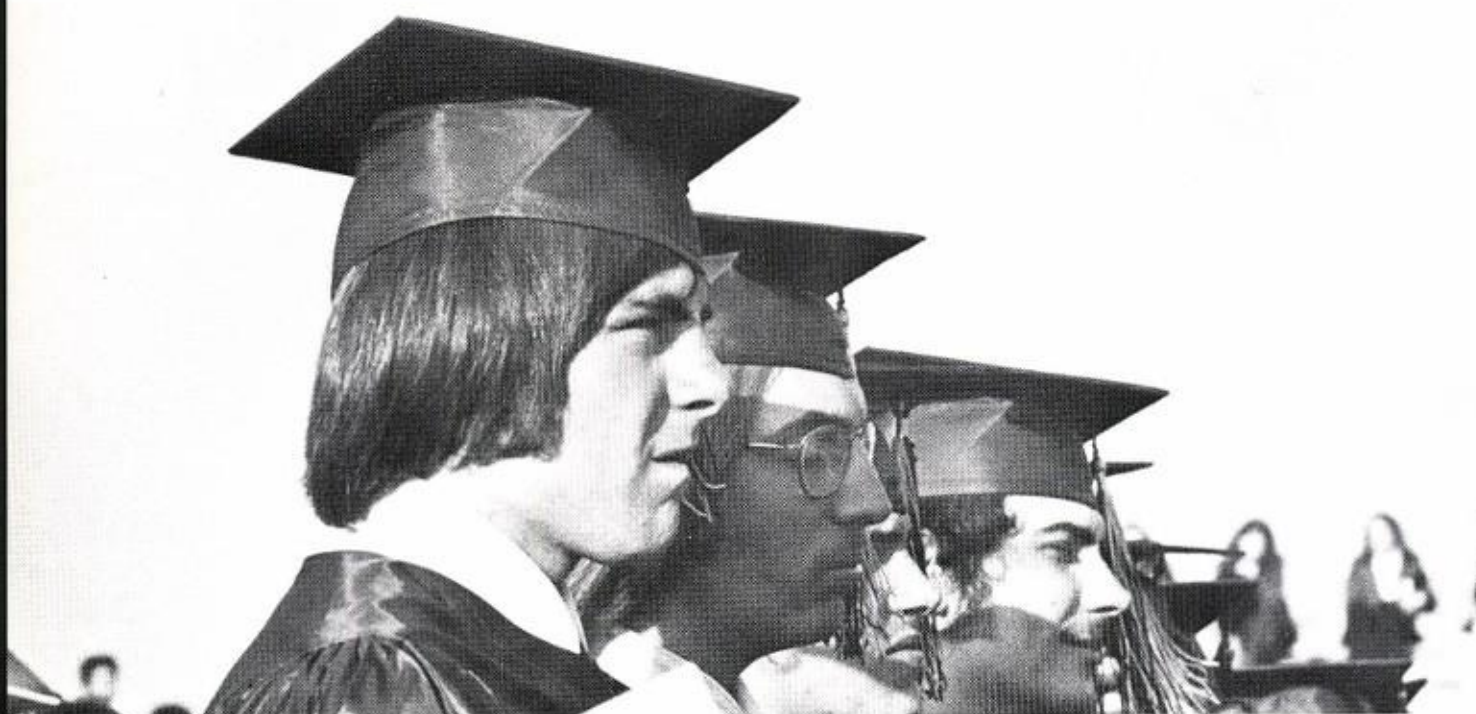

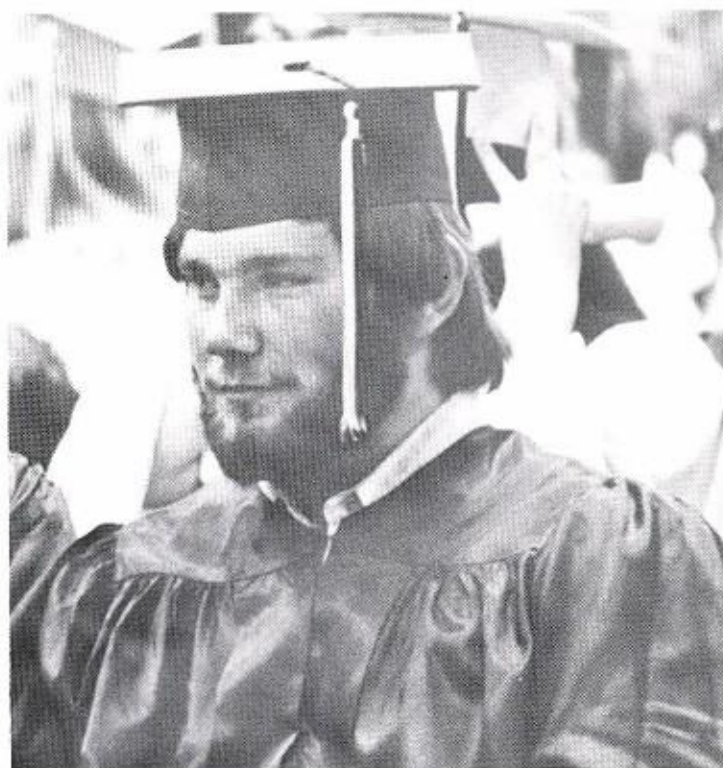

Graduation

... THE END

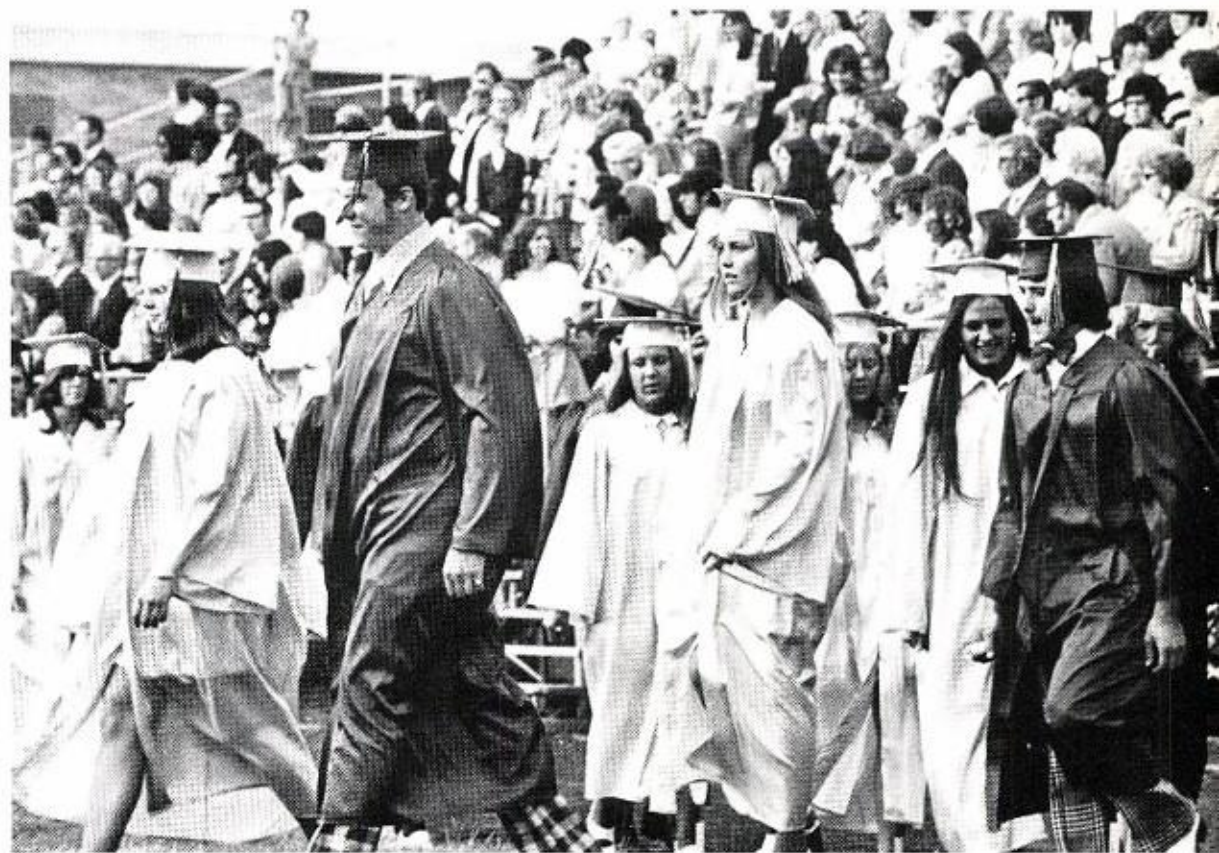

The moment finally arrived. The class gift of baseball bleachers and money to the Tommy Schultz fund had been presented. The commencement speaker, Charles Smith, spoke and contributed $100 to Tommy Schultz. The graduates arose and slowly walked to the podium and received the long sought after diploma. The "Coronation March" began and the graduates of '73 were on their own.

"I love the speaker. The most important thing he said was to go out in peace. That was our motto. Linda Raymond

"After you graduate, it seems so empty. You have to start all over again at college." John Golenbieski

"He (the speaker) made us laugh and that was good because it was a happy occasion." Sheryle Mitchell

If you think SEALED POWER makes PISTON RINGS
. . . you're partly right.

Sure, we make piston rings -- millions every week. But that is only part of our expanding business. Sealed Power manufactures or distributes many other engine parts -- pistons -- cylinder sleeves, miscellaneous castings -- valves -- valve springs -- valve guides -- water pumps -- tappets -- bearings -- die cast components -- powdered metal items -- auto air conditioning parts -- to mention a few. With headquarters in Muskegon, plants from Canada to Mexico, and worldwide distribution, Sealed Power's name is well recognized.

To meet the challenge of modern industry, Sealed Power needs able employees in all phases of our operation. Whether you plan to continue your education or seek immediate employment, may we offer --
